

Who are we

May we introduce ourselves; we are BILT Academy a non-profit organization and part of the RTC Foundation in Europe. We are a group of students from different parts of Europe and focus our studies and work on Architecture, Civil Engineering and Construction Management. With this newly born idea we are not only going to be new Committee members of the BILT Conference but we'll also act as a voice to represent the students' commitments in the building industry.

What do we do

Our goal is it to create a one-day summit one day prior to the next BILT Conference in Ljubljana, 2018. We want to bring 30 to 50 students from different regions in Europe together and create a multi-& interdisciplinary environment in terms of Architecture and Civil- and Structure Engineering. The workshops are facilitated by professionals within their field to introduce the students to explore new workflows within the BIM methodology. This will challenge the students in new and exciting ways. On top of this there will be opportunities for networking between students, professions and companies.

Why do we do what we do

We see it as a fact that there is a lack of communication between educational institutions and the building industry. In order to challenge future problems and to provide students with knowledge in efficient workflows, we are aiming to develop a concept to encourage the next generation in the industry and connect the industry experience with the student's software and technology skills.
