

To whom it may concern,

May we introduce ourselves; we are BILT Academy a non-profit organization and part of the RTC Foundation in Europe. We are a group of students from different parts of Europe and focus our studies and work on Architecture, Civil Engineering and Construction Management. With this newly born idea we are not only going to be new Committee members of the BILT Conference but we'll also act as a voice to represent the students' commitments in the building industry.

Why are we writing this to you?

We see it as a fact that there is a lack of communication between educational institutions and the building industry. In order to challenge future problems and to provide students with knowledge in efficient workflows, we are aiming to develop a concept to encourage the next generation in the industry and connect your experience with the student's software and technology skills.

“Shaping the future Experts of the Building Industry.”

How we are going to do this?

Our idea is it to bring 30 to 50 students from different regions in Europe, with different skills in multidisciplinary sectors for one day prior to the next BILT Conference to Ljubljana 2018. Where exactly, we don't know yet, though we know we want to create an open summit environment including Labs as well as exciting and interesting experts as speakers. Students will get the opportunity to discover and explore the BIM methodologies and project management from different perspectives.

The Mentor's role ...

As a mentor we expect you to be a passionate expert within the building industry/community. On one hand we would love to have you involved in shaping the program. Providing material and solution approaches of real projects related issues the mentor is currently experiencing. On the other hand we want you to participate in the event in a main mentor role as support for the students on site in Ljubljana, holding labs or even giving a presentation. The Mentor dedicates time, knowledge and skills towards our student participation.

Why should you do this for free?

You will be featured on marketing material at the conference and on our online platform www.bilt-academy.com. You will have the chance to shape your successors and will have the possibility to create connections for a long term collaborative work with them.

If you want to take part of this possibility in shaping the next generation, we would happily welcome you on board for this event!

Best wishes

Max, Merlin, Gabi and Julia
